

DAILY DEMOCRAT.

WEDNESDAY, - SEPTEMBER 3, 1856.

Remember,

The Daily Democrat costs only TEN CENTS per week, payable to the carriers, and deliverable any place in the city. Who will go without the news when it can be had at so cheap a rate?

Leave your orders with our clerk, or subscribe to the carriers direct and the paper will be promptly delivered.

The Fall Trade.

We are pleased to know that already the efforts of our merchants to provide for the season, are receiving their rewards. County merchants are coming into the city in considerable numbers, and will continue to do so. We are delighted at the prospect, for the summer season has been unusually dull. We this week add a few more houses to our list.

Jugom.—The conspicuous card of Mr. W. L. Walker is easily observed, and his establishment easily found. His stock consists entirely of foreign and domestic liquors, wines, &c., which, with his facilities for purchasing from the manufacturers direct, and manufacturing himself, is enabled to sell at a low rate and on good terms as can be obtained in any house in this part of the country. He sells at wholesale only; and Hats, Caps, and Furs.—That old and well-established house of (Isaac Pollard, Frazer & Smith) Frazer, Smith & Co., is well supplied with a full and heavy stock, which will be sold on as good terms as can be had in the West. Hats, caps, and furs of all sorts, descriptions, and styles and patterns, at prices to suit long or short purse—suitable for riding in crowded vehicles, or the promenade—ladies' riding-hats, muffa, caps, victorias—in fact, everything that can be made to keep the head, neck, and breast comfortable in the midst of winter, can be found in their establishment. Our country friends, in seeking where to lay in their supplies, cannot do better than to try the house of Frazer, Smith & Co.

Suites and Fancy Dry Goods.—The old-established house of Bamberger Brothers, at the northwest corner of Fifth and Main streets, (upstairs), is one of the largest houses in the city in the importing and wholesale trade. Their stock of goods is complete and varied—consisting of fancy dry goods, silks, embroideries, English, French and German hose, cloaks, talmas, ribbons and military goods, notions, &c. We are satisfied, that as they have built up a large trade by their strict attention to business and liberality, so they will continue to increase in the favor of the public till they have no superiors in the west.

Water-Works.

On Saturday next our citizens are to decide the question of Water-Works for the city of Louisville. We are glad to see the interest that is manifested on this subject; and from what we have heard, we have no doubt but that the question will carry by a large majority. We have rarely known a public question upon which there has appeared more unanimity than on the one now to be decided, and we sincerely hope that this measure is practically carried out, the city may be the gainer to the full extent which the friends of water-works seem to anticipate.

We are for every feasible measure that tends to attract population to our midst; and we are also in favor of protecting that population in the full enjoyment of all their rights, civil, religious, and political, when we have invited it to settle among us. It is one thing to attract population, and another to retain it. We think the latter quite as important as the former, and are glad to know that a large majority of the business men of our city are beginning to think with us.

Real Estate Agent.

Mr. J. W. Braden, whose real estate office is on Fifth street, offers for sale this morning three small farms in Indiana. Here is a chance for those who are desirous of removing to the country—and doubtful bargains can be obtained by them who add the English branches, Latin, &c.

For information address "Olivia Oakwood," New Lisbon, Columbian county, Ohio, stating every particular in full. The highest testimonials can be produced as to their character and abilities.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

Meers, Editors: In your issue of last Wednesday, the Water-Works.

It is an article in opposition to water-works, ever the signature of A. S. K.

This scoundrel gives the people of Louisville to understand that, in his judgment, water-works are a "stupendous humbug," and that their dead carcass is fast approaching decomposition. A man who, in 1855, can deliberately write and publish such a specimen of his judgment as this, ought certainly to have the courage to subscribe his name thereto, so that the people might take care of him, and see that such a precious specimen of old fogies suffers no unnecessary damage.

It is not my intention to enter into a discussion with your correspondent. I desire only to correct his misstatement of facts.

Heays.—In the report, it is evident that its framers, being corporators, have consulted the wishes of capitalists alone, and brought forward every argument and appeal which could stand the test of scrutiny, to revive the dead carcass of water-works, now fast approaching decomposition!

This statement is untrue, both a while and in all its parts. The framers of the report are not corporators, nor do they own one cent of stock in the water company.

Moreover, the wishes of capitalists have not been consulted in getting up the report; on the contrary, the plan proposed by the committee is to do just the opposite! This important improvement from the original plan is due to the facts of this nature may be briefly stated: The merchants and mechanics of Louisville met to gether for the purpose of devising some practical measures for promoting the manufacturing interests of the city. At this meeting the whole matter was referred to the great body of the mechanics, who, after a long and careful discussion, gave their views in much detail, and submitted them in writing. They recommend a number of practical measures which ought to be adopted, and among others, they are measures in the opinion that water works adequate for the wants of the city, and that the cost of the same would be less than the revenue derived from the same.

The committee that brought in the report objected to by your correspondent, "A. S. K." were simply carrying out the views of the great mass of their fellow-citizens; they have no more interest in this matter than any other set of men, and it is to the credit of the corporation that the statement of your correspondent that they think that the establishment of water works would be one important step towards that object, and they humbly conceive that the sixty manufacturing firms, who testify to the importance of the speedy commencement of this work, are probably much to be dependent on their judgment as you correspondents are.
